Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act of 2008 Compliance Statement

Concept One Accessories complies with all applicable children's product safety rules.

Since our founding, we have had a comprehensive testing program in place for all of the products we produce. Our testing program has always been in compliance with all US consumer product safety regulations, and we will continue to stay compliant even as some of these laws evolve and change.

Our children's products are tested by a CPSC-accepted accredited laboratory, unless subject to an exception. All of our products also contain permanent tracking information affixed to the product.

As a result, you can continue buying our products with confidence knowing they comply with the lead standards under the CPSIA. Of course, we also have General Conformity Certificates readily available for products produced after November 2008 as required by the CPSIA as further assurance of our products' compliance to CPSIA. Test reports are also available upon request.

Thank you for your Business,
Concept One Accessories
